

Taylor Keselica represents businesses and individuals in all aspects of civil litigation from the inception of a case to trial. She defends her clients in automobile liability, premises liability, personal injury and employment law matters.

Taylor regularly drafts reports, pleadings, motions, discovery requests, and requests to the court, as well as attends court conferences and hearings. She also engages in settlement discussions with opposing counsel, works with clients to prepare discovery responses and prepares for depositions and trials.

The firm's clients benefit from Taylor's persuasive legal writing and her research skills, which she started honing while in law school as Productions Editor for the Pace International Law Review and as a researcher for one of her law school professors. She is passionate about advocacy and litigation: a combination that her clients appreciate and see in her work product and the attorney-client relationships she cultivates..

EDUCATION

Pennsylvania State University, B.S., 2015

Elisabeth Haub School of Law at Pace University, J.D., cum laude, 2021

- Editor for the Pace International Law Review

MEMBERSHIPS & AFFILIATIONS

Connecticut Bar Association

ADMISSIONS

Connecticut

New York

Superior Court of Connecticut

New York Appellate Division, Third Department